From the Pastor: The Eucharist is described by the Catechism as "the source and summit of the Christian life". When we think of those who have died to defend the Eucharist, the most common thoughts are the Roman Martyrs or in more modern times, the priests who have been killed in China.

In this day and age when over 40% of Catholics do not believe in the Real Presence of Jesus in the Eucharist but believe that it is only a symbol, it would be a good time to look closer to home for those who have died to protect the Eucharist and request their intercession for our brothers and sisters who do not believe.

The following is adapted from the National Catholic Register: In 1967, Father George Weinmann rushed into his burning parish church, St. Philip Neri, to save the Eucharist, while Sister Lilian Marie McLaughlin, a second grade teacher at the parish school, ran in to rescue a few students she was told were inside. Neither would make it out alive.

That day of their deaths 50 years ago — Feb. 20 — made an indelible mark on the memories of the students and parishioners of this urban parish in Rochester, New York, and a lasting example of sacrifice. Though they died half a century ago, the impressions of their students and parishioners still provide a glimpse into the ordinary nature of greatness that would make Venerable Fulton Sheen, the bishop of the Diocese of Rochester, call them "martyrs." There were no students in the church that day, but, inside, Sister Lilian found Father Weinmann and tried to help him escape the building. The two of them tried leaving through the main entrance, at the back of the church. In the thick black smoke, the old priest and young nun appear to have mistaken the door of a confessional for the main entrance. The firefighters found them near there. Sister Lilian Marie died of smoke inhalation, while Father Weinmann, who had retrieved the Eucharist from the tabernacle, died a few days later.

In public remarks about Sister Lilian, Bishop Sheen said, "Martyrs belong to our own times and in most unexpected moments. Sister Lilian Marie gave her life in helping Father Weinmann save the Blessed Sacrament from fire. Greater love than this no woman hath." In the eulogy he gave for Father Weinmann, he called him a "martyred priest in behalf of his Blessed Lord."

On another note, as the sun sets on the Sacred Heart Athletic Association, we offer them best wishes as they leave the parish to begin their affiliation with the new St. Teresa of Calcutta School. The teams at every level have practiced good sportsmanship and learned valuable lessons for their future. We will remember the 2016-2017 Sacred Heart Indians for the following:
Girls Varsity Basketball—2nd Place in the Diocesan Tournament
Boys Varsity Basketball—7th Place in the Diocesan Tournament
JV Girls Volleyball Black Team—Undeclared Season

There are plenty of spaces open in the flower book to reserve flowers for Mary's Altar for your intention. Remember we are continuing to honor Mary until the 100th Anniversary of her last apparition and the Miracle of the Sun. Please sign up on the blue pages. You will be billed directly by the florist.

Drivers and runners are needed for Meals on Wheels for Hanover Area Council of Churches. For more information call 717-633-6353.

Friday, June 23rd is our feast day, the Feast of the Sacred Heart. This prayer may help you prepare:

MEMORARE TO THE SACRED HEART:

Remember, O most sweet Jesus, that none who have had recourse to Thy Sacred Heart implored its assistance, or called for mercy, have ever been abandoned.

Filled and animated by this same confidence, O Divine Heart, Ruler of all hearts, I fly to Thee, and oppressed beneath the weight of my sins, I prostrate myself before Thee.

Despise not Thy unworthy child, but grant me, I pray Thee, an entrance into Thy Sacred Heart.

Sustain me in all my combats and be with me now, and at all times, but especially in the hour of my death.

O gracious Jesus! O amiable Jesus! O loving Jesus!

We will have Mass at 7:00p.m. the evening of June 23rd. All are welcome!

The Mason Dixon Lineman Clinic will be held Sat. June 24th at Delone Catholic's J.T. Flaherty Field. Jacksonville Jaguars Offensive Line Coach and 1974 Delone grad Pat Flaherty will run the Clinic.
